

ARMAGUARD/PROSEGUR CONFIRM MERGE

It is now confirmed that Armaguard and Prosegur will merge in Australia, after authorisation was given by the ACCC yesterday.

This will take a number of months to legally and operationally complete. Our priority is to ensure members' voices and best interests are front and centre as this process progresses.

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT

- We are seeking an immediate meeting with both companies to ensure the best possible outcome and continued job security for those of you affected by the merger
- We will provide a full briefing to delegates
- This will be followed by yard meetings to update members, answer questions and hear your concerns

Through strong union membership we enjoy industry leading conditions and we will stand together to make sure these are protected, members are consulted every step of the way and as many jobs as possible are protected.

Information on timelines, next steps and what this means for members across the country will be provided as soon as possible and on an ongoing basis.

We are in this together and will fight for the best outcomes for members.
