

REX CREDITORS MEETING: NOMINATE TWU AS PROXY

This Friday, Rex's administrators EY will hold the first creditors meeting. As employees or former employees, you are creditors and are able to vote on certain matters throughout the administration process. It's important that your voice is heard to ensure workers' best interests are prioritised throughout this process.

We strongly encourage everyone to nominate the TWU as proxy, so that we can vote on your behalf.

TWU is continuing discussions with EY and the Federal Government about how entitlements and redundancy monies can be accessed as soon as possible.

We're pressing the government to take an equity stake in REX to ensure stability into the future, as well as working to speed processes up now and pushing for the protection of entitlements.

BENEFITS OF THE TWU AS YOUR PROXY

- The TWU understands and has experience with administration processes, including Virgin Australia
- TWU members vote with one strong collective voice
- The TWU's only motivation is workers' best interests, whereas other creditors will vote based on their own commercial interests
- The TWU will consult with delegates and workers on all key issues
